As technology continues to evolve, there is a need for computer systems that are more capable, that can carry more information, and that are smaller, lighter, and faster. One such system is the so-called pen-based or tablet computer system. This type of computer system is typically small, lightweight, and inexpensive. It is a computer that can be easily moved from one location to another. These types of computer systems have a small display screen and a user input device in the form of a "pen". The display screen can be used to display, for example, a page of text, a graph, a video image, a drawing, a computer generated image
