Any new enhancement design, added to the JCL must remain compatible. . There are no tags in this repository. All options have tags. . There are no tags in this repository. How do you suggest I specify which code is correct, given that no tags are used? Not sure what I missed, but for now I have two working options to give you a more general idea of how this should be done: Option 1: use a tag There are no tags in this repository. How do you suggest that I indicate which code is correct, given that no tags are used?
