It's our first video game! Hero-U is a Young Adult fantasy adventure game based on the U.S. government's most highly classified spy program. It's an exciting blend of action-adventure, platform-jumping, and role-playing games. About the Game Play: You play the role of a young spy working for the Agency, an elite group of operatives who protect the greatest inventions of all time. The game is divided into missions, and the length of each varies depending on player choice and is limited only by the length of the book you're reading while playing. As you embark on missions, you'll be joined by a team of agents and be guided by your mentor, an expert on the artifacts you're tasked with protecting. Get the original soundtrack and download it at: hero-un.com/rogantoremendation --Features-- [] Over 48 missions spread across 5 different book stories. [] An original adventure by Scott Ciencin, author of Intruders, The Three of Swords, and Blackthorn. [] Epic boss battles [] Combat sequences in which your physical actions and choices dictate the outcome of encounters. [] New game-wide rules that let you take a hint from the situation or decide to play it safe. [] Special agents that can be recruited and trained for your team. [] Help your team come to their senses by discovering their weaknesses and flaws. [] A painstaking quest system that records your every mission so you can experience them over and over. [] An exciting world that keeps the player constantly on the move, twisting and turning to navigate a city that looks like our world. [] Giant glass boxes and giant Tardigrades! [] The game has no battles outside of the story. [] Includes both the original theme and our new dynamic score [] A fair bit of swearing and nudity. [] Players may opt-in to text-only play if they wish (no visual effects, just sound effects). [] Available in English, French, German, and Spanish. The game "Isotower" is basically a Sim TowerGame, where you have to build your own tower on a plot of land. The idea is to build upwards to reach as much money on the top floor as possible, as in the game "Sim Tower". However, "Isotower" is very similar to Sim Tower, but if you're tired of Sim Tower you'll find that you'll probably like "Isotower" more. The game has a few modes, you can complete all the levels as the plot of land comes with jobs like residential, retail shops, restaurants, hotels, apartment buildings, and many other buildings. The graphics are pretty cool (all new land plots, all new buildings and decorations), and it thinks ahead when generating the level and planning out what jobs you can build on that plot. The game also allows you to build in any direction, so you don't need to stay on one side of a plot. The game "Isotower" allows you to invest in your building and works great as a web based game as well. SMARTRPRODUCTS LIMITED "APPLICATION CARD" - Isotower : Not Your Average Tower Game Isotower is a tower building tycoon style game, inspired by games from the mid to late 1990s. You choose a plot of land in a bustling city, and can build either a sprawling apartment complex, a high class hotel, a strip mall, or a bustling center of business, or anything else you can think of.Current Features (stuff what's already in the game for sure) Fully simulated elevators!* Multiple ways to enter the tower, such as subways, buses, cars, and walking.* Four types of social classes to cater your tower to.* Each resident and visitor is simulated, with different demands and schedules.* Build offices to attract workers to the tower, build housing to keep those workers in the tower!* Hotels! Restaurants! Offices! Shops!* Keep Beauty levels up, and Noise levels down to keep everyone happy.* 100% lootbox free.Upcoming Features (stuff that's still being worked on)* Upgrade/Unlock system based around impressing VIPs.* Stairs! Escalators! More transportation options!* Loads more rooms, including movie theatres a

Night Women's Quiz Night is a charity fundraiser quiz night held in Liverpool, England. It has taken place in pubs, restaurants, and hotel bars since the mid 1990s. Rules The format is an informal, fun, live quiz. Teams with about 5 members compete against another team, both sides sharing the questioning. Questions are often original, with one question set from a book, another from the TV, and so on. The majority of questions are worth between £5 and £50, with the teams being ranked on the total amount earned in their seats. Two seats, both worth £50, are allocated to each team, and the team with the higher rank in both seats wins. If there is a tie, which is rare, then whoever is ranked higher in one seat will also be ranked higher in the second seat. Three quarters of the teams who attend a quiz in a given week receive money to go towards their team. The remaining cash that is not handed over is put together and donated to a charity of the teams' choice. Annual result The quiz at Brighton Quays in October 2016 was the biggest yet, with 50 teams at £50 places. The top three teams that achieved the highest winnings were all from first-time competitors, The Fighting Mooses, Uniquely UKE and The Dorset Dinners, earning £260 between them, £50 for each of the top three spots. There was a tie for 4th place between The Prime Mover and a team named The Ramblers, this time £69 between them. The most successful team by a long margin was Title Chaser, featuring actors Garth Drabek and Robert Vaughn who chose questions from television series and films. They were victorious by £400 with £100 for each of the top four places. The Professional Liverpool. To-date, this was the highest winning team in Women's Quiz Night history. Historic competitive results A large percentage of the questions are from books and films, and it usually makes sense to identify the source or source by title: say, the racing driver Sean Bell vanished after attending a post-race pub quiz in the 1970s, a reference to his disappearance
