Although a positive correlation between perceived stress and creativity has been confirmed in previous studies, the underlying mechanism is still unclear. Cognitive doping is the use of caffeine to increase alertness, and people often use it to solve cognitive problems. We investigated whether "mixed drinks" contain the power to enhance creativity. In a simulated creative problem task, we manipulated cognitive stress and cognitive doping levels with a rotating mirror stereoscope. We found that the dual stressor condition and high-dose caffeine condition impaired creativity, whereas the stress-reducing effect of mixed drink was stronger than that of caffeine alone. It was also indicated that the mixed drink may have lessened the stress-induced cognitive bias. This study shows the effect of cognitive stress on creativity is depending on its intensity and the availability of cognitive doping, and further that mixed drink could be used to ameliorate stress.DIY Bathroom Kitchens: Tile Flooring For Bathroom Tile or stone is unique. About This ContentNon-tactical loadout for Rex RPG.Perfect for imaginary travels through the Old West.* You must proceed to a certain point in the story and meet the proper development requirements before this item can be developed. Game "METAL GEAR SOLID V: THE PHANTOM PAIN - Western Tack" Gameplay: Just thought I would post the trailer of what I'm working on as well as a teaser of my previous DA:U. Concept trailer of my W.E.T.E.R retexture. Spoiler: This is basically the same section as the trailer. But with a large variety of colors and styles. During development of the game, the community was filling us in on more stats and detail on what they found inside of this area, and I thought I would share it with you. In the original, you came down here and created a new style of weapon, giving your own signature style to your weapon. Until this point, it was all common weapons. When they create something in DA:U, they are clearly included in the lore of the base game. For instance, they didn't go through the effort of knowing how radar worked, and then just trying to make you get rid of it. So they're going to be aware of it, but if they weren't aware of it in the base game, it's going to be much more of a problem. So, the reason why you want to make your signature weapon isn't so much for you to impress others, but it's so that when you go and look at it, you have that reaction of "Damn, I made that." So you're basically putting your signature touch on it. We were speculating that you could have possibly developed your own barrel and make your own custom cartridge, or make your own powder and charge. But there are other ways to make it, like use a nail and a thread. In any case, I really like this part and how they made this section. It's really a neat addition, because it makes it more realistic and you can really feel that you're in the Wild West. During the development of DA:U, we were

Q: Highcharts - updating multiple series in one go just a simple question, and I'm not sure if it's a Highcharts question. I have two series, one has 100 points, the other has 400. I want to update both of these at once. I do something like: `chart.series.forEach(function(s){ s.setData(true); })` But it does nothing. If I copy and paste the new data into both series' data arrays, the chart updates without a problem. Am I missing a step? Thanks! A: You can do this `chart.series.forEach(function(s){ s.setData(, true); s.hide(); })` Updated fiddle Q: Can't make PyCharm recognize virtualenv correctly? OSX 10.10.5 Python 2.7.5 PyCharm Professional 4.5.5 I was having some trouble getting PyCharm to recognize/reuse my virtualenvs when I switched to PyCharm from Eclipse. I found this explanation of virtualenv, and realized that I was using venv and thus not actually using the virtualenv. (As such, something was screwing me up!) So, I switched to
