They are now one of his most popular and performed works. The first Spiral Hymn, "Dancing Through Reality", is a more fluid creation, similar to jazz or the work of Earth/Wind/Fire; while the second, "The Pattern", is a tightly structured composition with many composed parts. The third, "Ladder of Angels", is a more thematically focused song. Harrison has composed, arranged, and produced many albums for film and television, including the John Frusciante project Mo'Wax Records' volume #7, the Los Angeles bands "Cyclops" and "Mighty Lil' Junkman", and "The Zephyr Project", a collaboration with the former "Christian agit-rock" band, the Zephyr. The Spiral Hymns were issued on vinyl by Geno Lenardo (a personal project) and as a digital download on iTunes.
