A US soldier who was charged with sexually abusing a 12-year-old Iraqi girl before she was killed by a US drone attack has been found not guilty of all charges. Donald Vance, 32, had been accused of more than 40 charges including rape, child endangerment and communicating threats.

The incident took place after Vance lost a hand and two fingers in Afghanistan in a previous case of friendly fire. Vance was found not guilty on one count of communicating a threat and one count of sexual assault, but was convicted on two counts of child endangerment. The jury found Vance not guilty of 13 other counts including rape and communicating a threat. The trial took place last year and saw Vance caught performing oral sex on the 12-year-old in a cafe in the Iraqi town of Tal Afar in August 2014. A translator heard him saying: "I wanna eat your sweet little cheeks." The girl's father then ran to Vance's table where the pair began fighting over who had the right to the girl. The girl's father then grabbed a knife and stabbed Vance in the stomach, according to the Iraqi news agency. The girl's father then tried to stab Vance again and threw the knife in his direction. Unrelated donor bone marrow transplantation for chronic myelogenous leukaemia. We report the outcome of 15 chronic myelogenous leukaemia (CML) patients given unrelated donor bone marrow transplants at a median follow-up of 20 months (range: 11-51 months). Sixteen (80%) of these patients are in continuous complete remission, and one patient is in continuous partial
