Q: How to set up a qevent loop to change a graphic object? I want to use a UILabels in a PyQt5 app. I want a label to change color, I already have all the logic to show the label. However, the label does not change until I close and reopen the application. How to use the qevent loop to change a object in PyQt5? For example, if I can create a function that changes the color of the label and is called when the label needs to be changed. A: To use a QEventLoop you need to create a QApplication: `import sys import numpy as np import PyQt5 from PyQt5.QtWidgets import`
