Apc Fingerprint Sensor Driver Download

I'm trying to set up a class driver for AuthenTec's TruePrint fingerprint scanner. So far, I've located the device driver software. I can see the driver's configuration interface window (Figure 1), which seems to be the path through which I will install the driver. The first step is to create a new configuration (Figure 2). I then click on the Next button (Figure 3). At this point, I'm prompted with the installation parameters I want to use. The options are pretty simple, but I do want to make sure that I select the .inf file for the interface driver and not the .sys file for the class driver (Figure 4). Now I'm shown the list of files that should be installed by the driver (Figure 5). Click Next. Note: You'll be asked to install the interface driver first..inf file. - ).sys file. If you are trying to install the driver on a computer running 32-bit operating system, you need to install the 32-bit version of the .inf file.
